

A company selected PX to optimize its production process and its yield prior to commercial manufacturing.

In this project PX' Therapeutics identified and developed an efficient chromatography step